

January 2019 > December 2021

EU internal and external challenges

-  Financial and economic crisis
-  The migration phenomenon
-  Political tensions
-  Brexit

A new idea of Europe through differentiation

+
effective

+
cohesive

+
democratic

Thinking philosophical foundations of integration and differentiation

Theorizing differentiation with regard to governance and accountability

Developing new narratives on European constitutionalism and identity

Advancing differentiated integration in key policy areas

- Economic and Monetary Union and the single market
- Foreign, security and defence policy
- Area of freedom, security and justice, including migration
- Special Observatory on Brexit

Aggregating national preferences on EU > The way forward for Europe: future scenarios of differentiated integration

THE NETWORK

1. International Affairs Institute (IAI) Italy (Coordinator)
2. Centre for European Reform (CER), United Kingdom
3. Centre for International Information and Documentation in Barcelona (CIDOB), Spain
4. Egmont - Royal Institute for International Relations (Egmont), Belgium
5. European Policy Centre (EPC), Belgium
6. European News Service (Eunews), Italy
7. Finnish Institute of International Affairs (FIIA), Finland
8. Institute for Democracy "Societas Civilis" - Skopje (IDSCS), former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia
9. Institute of International Relations (IIR), Czech Republic
10. Jacques Delors Institute (JDI), France
11. Norwegian Institute of International Affairs (NUPI), Norway
12. Sabanci University (SU), Turkey
13. Institute for European Politics (IEP), Germany
14. University of Geneva (UNIGE), Switzerland
15. University of Groningen (RUG), The Netherlands

THE PROJECT

- 15 partner institutions from 10 EU and 4 non-EU countries
- 57 researchers involved
- 12 case studies
- 61 publications
- 14 videos, 9 podcasts and 5 infographics
- Support from the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme